

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to novel recombinant protein variants that are useful as immunotherapeutic components. Also the present invention relates 5 to DNA sequences encoding said protein variants as well as compositions comprising said protein variants.